Parla Soleil's new single 'Amazing how you move' blends dark RnB with very subtle oriental elements that give the tune a sensual energy. The track offers quite a different taste of her upcoming EP compared to her last release, 'Drizzle & Flood', which was more sunny and laid-back. Amazing how you move draws parallels between creating art and intimacy, perfectly exemplified in the opening lines: "Nothing compares to watching you. The way your hands move, it's powerful. As you create this piece of art, I can feel the beating of your heart." The lyrics capture the tension between two people right before they take action. The song savors this moment and the longing for a release. Energetic drums add a hint of hip hop. Background vocals lure you in like a siren, seductive and entrancing. Dramatic strings amplify the intensity, while minimalistic elements such as a pan flute introduce an oriental touch that inspires fantasies.

The echo of the Orient and Occident runs in Parla Soleil's blood and music. With Austrian, Spanish, Turkish and Danube Swabian influences, her passionate, vibrant performances guide listeners through an emotional rollercoaster. Previously, she tested the musical waters as Air of Jasmine, collaborating with Rap/Hip Hop, Jazz and Techno artists, including Kaul Kwappen, Movski, Selecta Bence and Milkman. She made her radio debut with the songs 'Zombie Boy' on Austria's alternative radio station FM4 and 'Golden Hour' on BBC Radio 1Xtra.

Lyrics

Verse:

Nothing compares to watching you
The way your hands move, it's powerful
As you create this piece of art
I can feel the beating of your heart
This state of flow affecting me I can feel the, feel the...

Chorus:

My blood starts rushing through my veins, pumping
through my skin
As I watch you do your thing, baby do your thing
Our mood is resonating too, like an instrument
Making the air around us vibrate

Verse:

Our minds are not thinking if, but thinking how Your dedication, testing my patience And as we sway, sway, sway to this tune (as we sway to this tune yeah yeah)
Our senses, oh our senses, are in overdrive

Chorus:

My blood starts rushing through my veins, pumping
through my skin
As I watch you do your thing, baby do your thing
Our mood is resonating too, like an instrument
Making the air around us vibrate

Bridge:

As this moment washes over me, it takes a hold Cause it's so unique what we want is to explore
And as this wave crashes into me, it takes control
I dare to dive and give into it, let's see where this goes. (x4)

Chorus:

My blood starts rushing through my veins, pumping through my skin
As I watch you do your thing, baby do your thing
Our mood is resonating too, like an instrument
Making the air around us vibrate
